Mond (<https://mond.how/>), an anonymous Q&A platform operated by Howtelevision Inc. (Headquarters: Minato-ku, Tokyo; CEO: Yosuke Otonari), is pleased to announce that the cumulative number of questions posted has surpassed 5 million.

Mond is a new type of communication service that allows users to anonymously receive questions from followers and acquaintances and send messages with images, audio, and video. Available as an iOS or Android app and on the web, it is used in a wide range of situations, from casual exchanges to in-depth conversations.

Since its launch in August 2021, the platform has fostered a diverse range of interactions, from specialized questions for manga artists, scholars, editors, and writers to messages of support and fan interactions for VTubers and influencers, and even everyday conversations such as job hunting and career advice. Mond strives to create a safe and secure environment, primarily through mechanisms to prevent defamation, and to support the development of a sustainable and healthy community.
